Amusement Logic is one of the leading companies in the design and construction of leisure spaces for campsites, resorts, and outdoor tourist destinations.

For more than 30 years, we have helped tourism operators around the world transform their facilities into complete holiday destinations, capable of attracting more visitors, increasing the length of stays, and improving the profitability of the business.

Our team develops customised projects that integrate architecture, engineering, landscaping, and ambience to create unique water parks and leisure areas, tailored to each campsite and its target audience.

Water as the driving force of the vacation destination

Nowadays, the aquatic space is one of the main factors when choosing a campsite. It is no longer just about having a swimming pool, but about offering an experience capable of attracting families, extending the stay, and reinforcing the perceived value of the destination.

A well-designed aquatic area transforms the campsite into a more competitive and memorable place. It generates activity throughout much of the day, organises the social life of the complex, and becomes one of the most photographed, shared, and remembered spaces by customers.

That's why at Amusement Logic, we design aquatic environments that combine leisure, landscape, and architecture to turn each campsite into a true vacation destination.

Campsites that already trust Amusement Logic

Over the last decades, we have developed leisure and water parks for some of the most renowned campsites in Europe, especially in France, Spain, and Italy.

Our projects help these destinations to differentiate themselves, attract families, and establish themselves as authentic open-air holiday resorts.

We design aquatic experiences for the whole family

Aquatic spaces have become the centre of the social life of the campsite. They are the place where families gather, where children play and where many of the vacation memories are created.

At Amusement Logic we design aquatic areas that combine fun, aesthetics and functionality, creating environments capable of attracting visitors of all ages.

Our projects can integrate themed pools, splash zones for children, slides, lazy rivers and relaxation areas, always adapted to the size of the campsite and its client's profile

The objective is always the same: to create attractive, safe and durable spaces that become the heart of the holiday destination.

Water parks that transform a campsite into a destination

Amusement Logic is the only company in the leisure sector that offers the widest and most comprehensive range of services and products for the water park and camping sector.

Outdoor, indoor, and themed water parks, areas equipped with the latest attractions, combining circuits designed for youngsters, adults, or the whole family.

Amusement Logic's service, customized for each client, includes the conceptual design of the park, the estimation of the initial investment, the market and financial feasibility studies, the architectural and engineering work, the supply of all specialized equipment, and the management of the works.

By managing each project from start to finish, Amusement Logic becomes the best partner for the investor or developer.

We provide our experience and knowledge from the preliminary development phase to the start-up phase, and we even help our clients in the creation and training of the operating company.

Aquatic solutions for all types of camping

At Amusement Logic, we develop water spaces adapted to different scales, audiences, and camping models. From splash zones for children for the youngest to family water parks with themed pools, interactive games, and more intense attractions.

Each solution is designed to respond to a specific need: to attract families, enrich the experience of the stay, and offer leisure proposals for different ages within the same destination.

Our ability to combine child's play, family fun, ambience, and landscaping allows us to create balanced, visually appealing spaces ready to become one of the main assets of the campground.

A global partner for turnkey projects

We set the trend, from concept to construction. At Amusement Logic, every leisure project is an architectural challenge due to its originality, complexity, and impact.

Our design style brings to each project we undertake the design experience, the vision capacity, and the knowledge of the leisure sector of our designers and technicians.

We understand the leisure client and how to design environments to meet their needs.

Moreover, we adapt to each idea and project to offer our clients the best possible solution.

Our goal: Always strive to achieve amazing results
